

Riziki Source, founded by Fredrick Ouko, is making significant strides in empowering persons with disabilities in Kenya through its innovative mobile app. Launched in 2015, the Riziki Source App connects job seekers with disabilities to various employment opportunities while educating employers on the advantages of inclusive hiring practices.

Empowering Through Technology

Riziki Source App serves as a vital resource for individuals with disabilities, allowing them to create profiles, search for job openings, and apply directly from their mobile devices. The platform not only facilitates job training and placement assistance but also provides essential resources to foster inclusive work environments. This initiative aims to break down barriers that hinder access to employment for people with disabilities, ultimately driving economic growth through inclusive practices.

Impact and Achievements

Since its inception, Riziki Source has successfully registered over 1,777 candidates and established partnerships with numerous companies, leading to significant employment outcomes. Fredrick Ouko emphasizes the mission of Riziki Source: "It's allowing them to find jobs they would have otherwise not been able to find." This commitment reflects the organization's broader goal of creating a more inclusive workforce in Kenya.

Looking Ahead

Riziki Source continues to expand its reach, it plans to enhance its services nationwide and increase employer engagement. With ongoing support from various initiatives and recognition for its impactful work, Riziki Source is poised to further bridge the gap for people with disabilities seeking employment.
